Question:

Which graphics cards are recommended for Allplan?

Answer:

Follow this link to see a list of the AMD/ATI & NVidia graphics cards manufacturers that are CERTIFIED FOR ALLPLAN.

We have tested the OpenGL functionality and the animation performance of various Allplan modules with specially prepared data with each of the cards available.

The tested drivers can be found on the homepage of the individual manufacturer. The driver versions that were used in the tests are included in the tables so that you can compare the data. However, we strongly recommend that you always install the current driver of the manufacturer.

It is a good idea to check your system using the system tool you can find on our homepage:

Additional information:

Allplan 2011 was revised completely for accelerated graphical representation.

To guarantee full performance support for Allplan 2011 and later, please check that your graphics cards meet the hardware requirements for DirectX 10 & OpenGL 2.0 (chip-based). In addition, you need to install the current drivers. Allplan will automatically switch to the conventional drawing method when it starts and finds old graphics cards that do not meet the requirements stated above.
